Near Norton.An extensive search for the thief or thieves who took all but one of a flock of 96 sheep belonging to Grover C. Snyder of east of Norton on the County Line road, sometime during the last two weeks is being conducted by Sheriff W. J. Harritt and his deputies.Disappearance of the sheep was not discovered by Mr. Snyder until Monday, and the loss, estimated at around $1,000, was reported immediately to the sheriff's office. On the same day 50 sheep owned by J. B. and Thomas Brundage, whose farm adjoins the Snyder farm, were reported missing.The sheep owned by Mr.
Snyder had a wide acreage for grazing and were well supplied with water from a stream running through the field, and required very little attention from the owner. Deputies LeRoy Reiter and Ross McGinnis said

BRUSH FIRE SWEEPS WEST

SANTA MONICA, Calif., Oct.
21—A wild, flaming brush fire had advanced to the edge of a county prison road camp in the Santa Monica mountains this morning, a sheriff's deputy reported, and hasty preparations were made to evacuate the 60 inmates and dozen or so attendants.

Religious, Welfare and Service

Work Financed Through War Chest.The Salvation Army, one of the local agencies to share in the Marion County United War Chest campaign now under way, carries on a variety of community services in Marion, including welfare, religious, educational and character—building activities through its various groups.Its share of the goal this year is $6,000, which is 5.75 per cent of the total of $104,361.73 sought in the drive.The Salvation Army corps in Marion is under the direction of Major and Mrs. Joseph Heard, in the variety of the services rendered, the Salvation Army seeks to carry out a long standing slogan, "Servants of All."Records show that 325 families were assisted during the year with rent, fuel, groceries, furniture, cash or loans amounting to $1,057.18. Embraced in this record are a number of families that have moved into the community from other places with little or no resources and have been carried along until they were able to draw their first pay.A total of 1,734 transients were given assistance with meals, lodgings and garments in the value of $385.09. The local corps, Major Heard said, "recognizes that this type of relief work is the most thankless kind, yet many people support the community fund with the understanding that this work will be done by the Army."

Character Service

Character building work embraces all phases of effort among the children and young people including music, handicraft, instruction in Bible and text books as well as the regular Sunday school and spiritual effort to build up the moral structure of those to whom they minister. A total of 11,320 attended those various branches during the past year and six young persons attended the 10-day camp period at Glendale, O. A majority of those ministered to are among the underprivileged of the community.Recreational and social features in the way of picnics, winter roasts and parties were also arranged and supervised.The Marion corps groups have been doing their share in the salvaging effort of gathering paper, rubber, rags and scrap metal.

133 Street Meetings

The street meeting work of the Marion unit has been carried on winter and summer, including 133 street meetings with an attendance of 11,369.Six hundred and eighty-five indoor services, which in the main are evangelistic in nature, were held. Included in this number were 54 Home League meetings organized to develop better homes in these meetings a number of layettes for expectant poor mothers and quilts for needy families were made. The group studies health, baby care and general home management.The Salvation Army has been termed "The Army with the Helping Hand," and this aim, Major Heard said, is being carried out to the fullest extent with the available means and facilities."However," he added, "this report by no means tells the full story of what this organization means to the community in welfare ministry, of the human touch, the prayers and the contact of friends to those who are bruised and scarred in the battle of life."Ohio Truckers Warned

OF NEW LABOR SHORTAGE AREAOne of 64 Communities Subject to Contract Restrictions of WPB.Marion is one of 64 communities classified nationally as areas of "un-disciplined" labor shortage and the war manpower commission has recommended they be avoided in placing contracts except for contracts with a maximum delivery date of six months, the WPB announced today in an Associated Press dispatch from Washington.Fred B. Scherff, manager of the U. S. employment office in the Marion area, said today there is a definite shortage of labor in Marion already and that the situation is daily becoming more acute.It has been necessary for the Marion office to resort to pooled interviews in key places throughout the state where there is a possibility of available help, he reported.The shortage of labor is felt especially in the war construction program.

Advertising Used

In an attempt to get labor into Marion newspaper advertisements have been published in large cities and interviews have been sent for "pooled interviews." In several instances, trucks and buses have been taken along to bring workers back to Marion to start work immediately.The labor turnover in Marion is from three to four times what it was before war building began, Mr. Scherff said, and there is great difficulty in getting replacements."We have practically exhausted all records of available workers in this vicinity," he declared.Mr. Scherff said the office is making every effort to induce women into industry.The WMC designation announced today regarding the Marion labor shortage was made on recommendation of the employment office, the manager said.

Ten With Surplus

The commission also designated 10 Ohio cities as being in areas where war production contract should be placed because they have surplus labor and listed 14 additional cities as having shortages.Areas with labor surpluses were:
Cincinnati, Columbus, Cleveland, Mansfield, Portsmouth, Salama-n.

Critical Period Ahead
for Laval GovernmentBy The Associated Press BERN, Switzerland, Oct. 21—France entered today her most critical period since she signed the 1940 armistice, the 11 days remaining to Pierre Laval before he is expected to try compulsion to send protesting workers into German war factories.The period to Nov. 1, private advisers from uncrumpled France said, represents the extension of time set by Berlin for fulfillment of its labor demands for 150,000 volunteer workers.It also is the period, informed French observers said they believed, which will demonstrate whether Laval could hope to cling to his position as chief of government.

Russia; Urges Offensive Action by Allies.By The Associated Press LONDON, Oct. 21—Field Mar-mier of the Union of South Africa, told a joint meeting of the house of commons and the house of lords today that the German army is "bleeding to death" in Soviet Russia and "the stage is set for the last offensive phase" of the war for the United Nations.The 72-year-old premier, last surviving member of the war cabinet of the last war still active in high office, said the "appalling blood-letting which is necessary for Hitler's ultimate defeat is being administered by the Russians and they alone can do it."Russia, Smuts said, is "bearing more than her share of the common burden" and he urged that "whatever help in whatever form we can give to Russia to sustain her in her colossal effort should be given in fullest measure and with utmost speed."In reference to the second front, Smuts said the defense phase of the war for the United Nations had ended."The final alignment both of the allies and of our enemies have been made," he said. "Resources have been developed and mobilized on a very large scale. Ours are still on the increase, those of the enemy are on the decline. Our manpower is still growing, that of the enemy is getting depleted, while he makes ever take the offensive and to strike while the iron is hot," he said, "it would be folly to delay, to over-prepare and perhaps miss our opportunity. Nor are we likely to lose."The premier said the war "may continue till 1944."Russians Halt Another Stalingrad OffensiveRed Lines Unbroken for 48 Hours as Nazi Drive on Volga City Slackens in 58th Day of Siege.By The Associated Press Addit. Hitler's latest week-end offensive against Stalingrad was reported dwindling today as cold rain again drenched the city's streets, and Russian headquarters announced that the Red army had held their lines unbroken for 48 hours.It was the 58th day of siege, just five days short of equaling the historic Russian stand in the nine-week siege of Moscow last year.German field headquarters acknowledged that the Russians were launching powerful defensive attacks against the Nazi guard north flank, that Stalingrad but asserted they had been repulsed in heavy fighting.For the second successive day the Germans stressed bad weather conditions along the battle line, declaring that rains were hampering operations both in the Stalingrad zone and in the Caucasus."The so-called mire patrol has started on the eastern front," Nazi dispatches said.Hitler's command reported fiercely that "the struggle is being continued" inside Stalingrad, while other Nazi reports said German shock troops had scored fresh gains in house-to-house fighting.Dispatches from the ruined Volga metropolis said a battered power plant still supplied electricity to the city and that a newspaper continued to publish.

Beat Off Attacks

As the din of battle subsided, with Nazi attacks growing successively weaker, the Soviet command reported that the city's reinforced defenses had beaten off a series of attacks and "threw back the enemy to his original positions."German losses were estimated as high as 70 per cent of their effectives in the new drive which began last Wednesday.The Russians declared they also had improved their position through counter-attacks in the northwest and central Caucasus.Dispatches to Red Star said Russian troops guarding Stalingrad's northern factory section had "liquidated" a German breakthrough and declared the fight was now confined to a struggle for a nearby workers' settlement for two streets on the outskirts where Nazi veterans and reserves also had failed to gain.Front-line reports said Russian reinforcements, hurried across the Volga under a tempest of German artillery fire and bombing attacks, stormed the Nazi drive into the factory district at the hour of greatest danger.

2 BATTLESHIPS JOIN BRITISH

Additions Raise Fleet in This Class to Pre-War Strength.

By The Associated Press
LONDON, Oct. 21—Two powerful 35,000-ton battleships, the Anson and the Howe, each carrying ten 14-inch guns, have moved into their stations in the British fleet, the battleship Tirpitz.

The British fleet has now reached its pre-war strength of 15 battleships and battle cruisers and at least four more battleships are under construction, including the Lion and the Temeraire, rated at 40,000 tons.

The Anson and the Howe are the last of the five great battleships of the King George V class to be commissioned. The Prince of Wales was sunk last December during a Japanese air attack off Malaya. The King George V and the Duke of York have been with the fleet for some time.

One of the Anson's first tasks was to help guard a Russian-bound convoy in the Arctic and her guns already have been in action against German aircraft, it was announced.

Capt. R. G. Kinnahan is commander of the Anson and Capt. C. H. L. Woodhouse commands the Howe. They were captains in the West Indies before the war and Woodhouse was commander of the cruiser Ajax in the battle of the River Plate in which the German pocket battleship Graf Spee fled to Montevideo harbor and was scuttled.

The new battleships "carry four aircraft each and their design incorporates enhanced defense against air attacks," an admiralty announcement said today.

Britain has lost five capital ships by enemy action so far in the war—the Royal Oak, Hood, Bismarck, Repulse and the Prince of Wales.

300 Hear McSweeney Talk in Kenton

Special to The Star
KENTON, Oct. 21—John McSweeney of Wooster, Democratic candidate for governor of Ohio, addressed a crowd of 300 here Tuesday on his round-the-state swing, assailing his Republican opponent, Gov. John W. Bricker, for "giving absolutely no cooperation to the war effort" and promising that if elected he will cooperate to the fullest extent to see that the war effort is pressed at home and abroad.

Mr. McSweeney flayed Gov. Bricker's promise of new taxes by asserting that failure of the state administration to return to local communities their proper share of the sales tax has caused those communities to levy additional local taxes.

Comments on Taxes
McSweeney charged the state was threatened in many instances with what he termed double taxation. "In the Nov. 3 election," he said, "21 school districts in the state will vote on bond issues or special levies to maintain their schools. "We must have men in congress of broad vision who can look across international boundaries, for before long we will have a peace to write and it is not far to our soldiers if we lose the peace after they win the war."

He quoted Congressman Smith as saying in a radio speech last night that because of duties in Washington he would not be able to make a thorough campaign of the district. "What does he mean," Fletcher asked, "he's been here all the time."

Fletcher admitted that Smith had voted for some administration measures since Pearl Harbor, but, he asked, "must we have the Japs attack us every few months in order to get our congressmen to vote American?"

Fletcher recommended a reduction in all government expenses not directly connected with winning the war and told the farmers they must have sufficient labor and a just return for their efforts.

George Nye devoted his entire time to a review of the qualifications of McSweeney to serve as governor of the state. He reviewed his World War I record in which

Suggested Donation
Plan Explained

A statement about the basis on which Marion county residents are being asked to donate to the Marion County United War Chest
drive was issued today by J. E.
Cliffhanger, president of the Marion Community Foundation, to clear any possible misunderstanding that might arise among sellers or donors.

The statement follows:

"This year for the first time in the history of union organizations they have entered into a national arrangement with the National Community Chest Council to urge their members to give their local organizations to give one hour's pay per month to the various war relief organizations and local groups including the Red Cross which is not a member nation of the locally of United War Chest drive. In order to avoid confusion in that might arise among their members in donating both to the war chest drive and the Red Cross, the unions have decided to make their pledge as follows:

"Ten months' pay to the United War Chest drive.

"Two months' pay to the Red Cross.

"The two months' pay will not be paid to the United War Chest or included in pledges to the chest.
This arrangement is merely a method the unions have adopted and should not confuse other givers to the Marion County United War Chest. All individual or company gifts to the United War Chest will go entirely to War Chest agencies and in no part to the Red Cross."

through administrative action without statutory authorization. 3. Legislation, under which the objectives would be stated, the essential safeguards spelled out.

Some Measures Ineffective
McNutt said the commission already had encountered several situations in which purely voluntary measures have proved ineffective.

He foresaw "grave difficulties" in the use of indirect sanctions. On the other hand, McNutt asserted "the compulsory aspect of national service legislation could be grossly exaggerated."

Blasting of 200 Targets Would Cripple Hitler

By DEWITT MACKENZIE

LONDON, Oct. 21.—There are fewer than 200 home targets the American and British bombers need to destroy in France and Germany in order to render Hitler so vulnerable that the allies could roll their army over him and end the war by next fall.

These targets comprise Nazi Germany's chief war industries and all-important rail communications and rolling stock. In short, they represent the sources of much of the Fuehrer's striking power and the means of moving that power into action.

In order to achieve this destruction quickly and thereby prevent great prolongation of the war, American and British bomber forces based in this country would have to be increased heavily and immediately.

It can be said that if these two forces were trebled within the next couple of months, the Anglo-American allies could achieve enough by spring to that an invasion army could be got into operation.

Some military experts insist the present scale of bombing could be increased ten times, but that strikes me as being an ideal which could not be attained in the near future.

This concentration of air force in Britain would be met:

(1) By current production in both countries.

(2) By transferring warplanes from other activities which could spare them for this major operation in western Europe.

Scouting Effort Limit

In this second category might fall some of the submarine scouting now being carried on by warplanes with the expenditure of a maximum amount of labor for a minimum of results.

The ideal place to get a submarine with bombers is at the bombing base and not after the boat has started to roam the seas.

Emphasis must be placed on speed in providing bomber reinforcements. Hitler should not be allowed to use the winter months to repair the grievous damage he has suffered in the Russian campaign.

Then there's another point which affects the American force directly. We are having great success with our new heavily-armed, heavily-armed flying fortresses with astonishingly small losses. It is both a bomber and a fighter.

But that is sure to be a passing phase. The Nazis are not able to cope with the fortress now because this giant machine is a new weapon for which they were not prepared. It won't be new for long, however. Science marches fast these days and we may expect the Boche to develop a defense.

Thus it is up to us not to give Hitler a chance to devise a means to beat the fortresses before they have taken a full toll among vital targets. Now is the appointed hour when the bombers can do the most damage with the least danger to themselves.

Studies Bombing Photos

I have spent many hours recently with high power magnifying glasses studying enlarged reproductions of the damage done in raids on such cities as Rostock, Luckebeck, Cologne, Lille, Düsseldorf and Emden.

You would not believe such devastation possible unless you saw it under the lens.

Pictures like these don't guess. I defy anyone to analyze them and not be convinced that Hitler can be largely paralyzed in his industries and transport in a comparatively short time — if the bombers are available.

You will hear experts say that had Hitler contributed his fierce air assaults he might have paralyzed Britain. What Hitler might have done then, but did not, is something which will loom large in military history.

You can call his attack on Russia a vital error or you can say it was just bad luck.

There's a moral for the allies there as big as Mount Everest. Don't get your air force anchored to the army unless there no longer is need of the air fleet elsewhere.

Specifically, we must free our western Europe by bombing before we invade with land forces. Once the invasion is underway, the army's air forces will be tied to military operations on the ground and the bombing of our 200 targets would have to cease. That's why those targets must be reduced first.

ers under the British manpower laws has been exercised only 33 times.

"Under a voluntary system re-allocations may shirk with impunity," he continued. "Under a system of indirect sanctions measures may be so broad as to interfere with other objectives and strike the innocent with the guilty; being solely negative, indirect sanctions cannot reach certain types of activity."

LABOR

East Liverpool, Steubenville, Tinsboro and Winton, the latter in the Hamilton-Birmingham (W. Va.)-Ashland (Ky.) district.

Sixty-six districts throughout the United States were cited for labor shortages and the commission said they should be avoided in placing contracts whenever the facilities for meeting the (production) requirements are available in other areas.

Ohio communities with shortages were Akron, Canton-Massillon-Albion, Cleveland, Dayton, Fremont, Sandusky, Solon-Ellettsville, Springfield and Warren-Havanna.

A total of 64 were classified nationally as areas of "antipathy" labor shortage. The WMC recommended they be avoided except for contracts with a maximum delivery date of six months.

Towns so classified besides Marion, included: Columbus, Hamilton-Middletown, Lima, Lorain-Elyria, Toledo and Youngstown-Sheridan (Pa.).

Chairman Paul V. McNutt of the WMC said war production would be speeded, especially in midwestern and southern states, as a result of withholding contracts from labor shortage areas.

"Holders of contracts even in those areas where there is a surplus of labor should remember that there is going to be a continuous drain on the nation's manpower," McNutt added. "They should make use of all types of labor, including women, older workers and Negroes," he admonished.
